The Department was established in the year 2015 with an intention to educate students to focus on the theory and practice of government and politics at the local, state, national, and international levels.

We are dedicated to developing and understandings of institutions, practices, and relations that constitute public life and modes of inquiry that promote citizenship. Political science, the systematic study of governance by the application of empirical and generally scientific methods of analysis.

About Women Cell

Women cell of Adikavi Nannaya University was established with a motto of wellbeing of the teaching and non-teaching women staff and girl students of the University and to provide congenial working environment and enable them to explore their eminent potential in all aspects. We are continuously striving for women with self-empowered mind aiming at high intellectual and social uplifting of the female students. The main objective of the women cell is to take up women issues, and create awareness about their rights and duties. It also provides platform for women to share their experiences and views regarding their status in the society.

The cell stands for facilitating

Women empowerment through guest lectures, seminars, awareness programs and other welfare activities.

To inculcate entrepreneurial attitude among girl students at the earliest so that they can be job providers rather than job speakers.

Train women to acquire more knowledge and skill to develop social, economic and intellectual capacities for peace and security.

About Webinar

Women's Security means a safer, healthier community for everyone. This is a participatory process focused on changing community norms, patterns of social interaction, values, customs and institutions in ways that will significantly improve the quality of life in a community for all of its members. The Government of India introduced, initiated and implemented a number of policy solutions which have been talked about and implemented for Security of Women since its inception. There are Constitutional Provisions, Acts, Policies and Legal Provisions in India for the security and empowerment of women. Besides that technological inventions like 'Panic Buttons', GPS tracking, and CCTVs also introduced.

Women's Security involves Social, Economic and Political security. Therefore planning and policy around security should always involve and consider women in these three zones.

Social security means avoiding discrimination and violence against women in the name of gender, it involves safety at work place and in society also. Women's social security involves strategies and policies that take place before violence has occurred to prevent perpetration or victimization. This can happen by improving knowledge and attitudes that correspond to the origins of domestic or sexual violence, such as adherence to societal norms supportive of violence, male superiority and male sexual entitlement.

Economic security involves freedom from poverty. This includes safe access to education, employment which means financial security and autonomy. Women's economic empowerment reduces their vulnerability to situations of violence as they become less dependent on men and better able to make their own decisions. Political security is important among all. Women's participation as representatives of women in Assemblies and Parliament is must. Participation in local governments also must be pursued, and including a full diversity of women and girls in local decision-making processes must be promoted.

“Women are the real architects of society”

Introduction

Crimes against Women – A legal perspective is a pertinent topic given the rising crime rates in the nation towards women. The workshop intends to discuss the legal pathways that can be pursued by the victimized women. The webinar is a part of the initiative by the NSS Cell of Adikavi Nannaya University to disseminate necessary information to the women students and staff facing any form of discrimination or injustice. The Webinar is therefore a discourse on various Laws and Acts that are posited in the IPC for any sort of crime committed towards women.

The topic is pertinent not only because of heightened crimes against women but the worrisome roots of this increase. It has been observed that crimes against women have increased during the pandemic due to lockdown. The lockdown forced families to be indoors which increased the opportunities for harassment for men with women nowhere to go. Therefore, a steep increase in domestic violence is observed during the pandemic. The pandemic has also robbed the working women of their financial independence which worsened the overall crimes committed against them. Many girl students are either witnesses or victims of domestic violence. Therefore, it is essential that necessary opportunities of recovery and safety are provided through legal knowledge.

Furthermore, the adolescent girl students often face harassment and bullying from adolescent male students. These include from seemingly harmless online stalking to gruesome sexual assaults. The adolescents are generally impulsive in their acts and therefore necessary guidance and supervision are necessary to avoid dire consequences. However, they are old enough to be responsible of their acts. Thus, it is imperative that they are informed of the legal and social consequences of their actions either online or offline.

Many educational institutes have their own internal regulations, such as Cells and Counsellors and tie-ups with local law-enforcing agencies to ensure the safety of the girl students studying however at times girls may be afraid to report to these agencies out of fear of sociological stigma and victim shaming.

This webinar will therefore give them an opportunity to understand the various frameworks that are placed at various social levels to protect women and young girls from harm and injustice. The event is planned to be an interactive and communicative one to enable the provision of solution to any individual problems being faced by the participants.

Convener's Opening Remarks

Dr B Kezia Rani in her opening remarks stated that there is an immense need to create awareness to the girl students of the various laws and protection frameworks provided by the Government and Constitution of India. All the girl students and female community should be aware of the Articles and Sections provided by the Constitution and IPC regarding the misbehaviour by the dominant gender.

Though the Indian women had been given prime importance in religious text, it is not the realistic state of women in the society. We also know that Women should be worshipped but in the present situation, is this situation prevailing? If this is true why are there many attacks against women including sexual assaults, acid attacks, honour killings, female foeticide and infanticide. Educational institutions are no exception to these gender-based discrimination and harassment. This webinar is therefore an opportunity to create this important discussion.

Thus, the victimized women should come forward to create awareness and openness of the occurrence of this injustice and loss being done. Every girl student should therefore know their rights and ways in which protection measures are set up by the constitution and IPC.

I hope that this Webinar will be fruitful in creating necessary knowledge and awareness to all the participants.

Chief Guest's Address

Prof M Jagannadha Rao, Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Adikavi Nannaya University and the Chief Guest of the Webinar in his address expressed that this is a great occasion to inaugurate the webinar entitled Crimes Against Women – A Legal Perspective. The topic is pertinent for the status of women, though significantly better in the recent years, the rate of crimes against women is still on rise. The role and participation

The statistics from National Crime Records Bureau, 100 women are subjected to harassment each day and approximately 2.5 lakhs of crimes against women are recorded from the past five years. The constitution and exemplary efforts, especially from the State Government, especially the initiation of Disha Act (which was inaugurated in the University Campus). It also should be noted that the majority of the students learning in the University are women.

Though the IPC and Constitution are robust in providing protection to female, the statistics, I feel report only a portion of the cases occurring for many cases remain unreported due to social stigma. At times, women are not neglected by law enforcing agencies such as Police Stations. Therefore, there is a need for more stringent implementation of the laws. Therefore, there is a need to create awareness regarding the legal systems and procedures which can be approached in case of crime. Such a webinar will help to create knowledge and instil courage to the girls and women in need.

As the saying goes, Justice Delayed is Justice Denied. Disha Act of AP is one such measure to reduce the delay in delivering justice. I feel that other states should implement such Acts too. I also feel that there is a need for setting up of more Women Police Stations which give more freedom and reduce the desperation of the victimized women. Similarly, the social media has also become a tool of harassment for women where female users are harassed through fake post that degrade the character of a women. Such deeds are accompanied by extortion and blackmail.

Therefore, there is a need to create procedures that protect the identity and safety without any consequent infamy. Laws and Law enforcers are existent but there should be also preventive measures to reduce the crimes against women. Such measures should be present at various social levels beginning from the parents. A crime prevented is better than crime committed.

Guest of Honour's Message

Prof B Ganga Rao, Registrar in his speech stated that the crimes against women is a long-lasting problem. Despite creation of new laws, the rate of the crimes is on increase. Volumes can be written on the heroic deeds and exemplary contributions of women in this period.

In the ancient Vedic India, women are respected and treated equally with women. But with changes in sociological and cultural frameworks, the women were pushed back suppressed by various evil and unethical social rules and traditions

The India too is not different from the Vedic Society, the women in the society are harassed sexually, psychologically and socially. The recent statistics show a decrease in participation in various fields such as politics, health status, literacy status and work.

While on the other hand, the spread of social evils like dowry death, child death, rape, sexual harassment and exploitation of women workers, torture, humiliation have grown over the recent years.

This webinar will cover these topics and methods to confront these evils. It is appropriate and necessary for the present situations.

Resource Person's Address

Rahimunnisa Begum in her talk pointed out that in 2020, with the ongoing pandemic, the crimes against women has seen a steep increase. It is therefore time to introspect the various social factors that have caused in this increase. It is time that the civilized society thinks about these causes which include the easy accessibility of women or the sudden change in the mindsets of criminals.

Therefore, this times of growth and empowerment of women in every sectors does not paint the whole picture of the struggles of women in the society.

The common crimes against women acid attack, sexual harassment, kidnapping and abduction, trafficking and rape. Even during the pandemic, a lot of girls and women are trafficked. Rape is the ultimate crime against women where women are scarred for life.

Other crimes include causing miscarriage without consent, death of the pregnant and unborn child amounting to culpable homicide. It is against the society at large not just women. Other crimes include illegal slavery, child labour which are also widespread.

Eve teasing is another common crime that is prevalent at many educational and public places. It has come down a little in the recent times but it is not eradicated. Gender discrimination is another form of crime that is very widespread in the society that is prevalent at many levels in the society.

All these acts are strictly prohibited by the IPC and various sections are provided in the law that will punish the criminals. It is therefore necessary to create necessary awareness and initiate change not just in women but also in men.

Therefore, it is an appeal to all the participants to fight, protest for a crime free society. It is essential to change the mindsets of both the men and women. If such a society is attained than, I think, 2020 will truly be a remarkable year.

Crimes against Women – A legal perspective is a pertinent topic given the rising crime rates in the nation towards women. The workshop intends to discuss the legal pathways that can be pursued by the victimized women. The webinar is a part of the initiative by the NSS Cell of Adikavi Nannaya University to disseminate necessary information to the women students and staff facing any form of discrimination or injustice. The Webinar is therefore a discourse on various Laws and Acts that are posited in the IPC for any sort of crime committed towards women.

The topic is pertinent not only because of heightened crimes against women but the worrisome roots of this increase. It has been observed that crimes against women have increased during the pandemic due to lockdown. The lockdown forced families to be indoors which increased the opportunities for harassment for men with women nowhere to go. Therefore, a steep increase in domestic violence is observed during the pandemic. The pandemic has also robbed the working women of their financial independence which worsened the overall crimes committed against them. Many girl students are either witnesses or victims of domestic violence. Therefore, it is essential that necessary opportunities of recovery and safety are provided through legal knowledge. This webinar will therefore give them an opportunity to understand the various frameworks that are placed at various social levels to protect women and young girls from harm and injustice. The event is planned to be an interactive and communicative one to enable the provision of solution to any individual problems being faced by the participants.

Questioning habit helps to decrease corruption in society and it helps to bring the fruits of government programmes to the doorstep of the people.

RTI was a boon in the hands of people and helps to know about various issues relating to government.

RTI also helps for good governance and increases accountability in society. The women should also know about RTI and its advantages, she added.
